No. 1, April 1960:		No. 6, February 1961—Continued
A study of 34-E dual-drum pavers, by Donald O. Woolf.....	1	Table: State legal maximum limits of motor vehicle size and weights compared with AASHO standards (text on p. 154).....	140
How a dual-drum paver operates.....	11	Recommended specification for water-reducing retarders for portland cement concrete.....	153
Dual-drum paving: cost vs. mixing time, by Morgan J. Kilpatrick.....	12	No. 7, April 1961:
Time and fuel consumption for highway user benefit studies, by Paul J. Claffey.....	16	Traffic approaching cities, by Walter G. Hansen.....	155
Fuel and time consumption rates for trucks in freight service, by Malcolm F. Kent.....	22	Estimated travel by motor vehicles in 1959, by Alexander French.....	158
Errata (see vol. 30, No. 11, pp. 250-251).....	32	Evaluation of phosphoric acid for the stabilization of fine-grained plastic soils, by James A. Kelley and Earl B. Kinter.....	159
No. 2, June 1960:		Highway construction: an employment generator, by M. B. Christensen and David A. Gorman.....	162
A symposium on traffic accident costs.....	33	No. 8, June 1961:
The economic cost of traffic accidents in relation to the human element, by Robie Dunman.....	34	Characteristics of passenger-car travel on toll roads and comparable free roads for highway user benefit studies, by Paul J. Claffey.....	167
The economic cost of traffic accidents in relation to the highway systems, by Bernard B. Twombly.....	39	Moisture content determination by the calcium carbide gas pressure method, by Jerome R. Blystone, Adrian Pelzner, and George P. Steffens.....	177
The economic cost of traffic accidents in relation to the vehicle, by James F. McCarthy.....	44	No. 9, August 1961:
The economic cost of traffic accidents in relation to highway planning, and a comparison of accident costs in Utah and Massachusetts, by J. E. Johnston.....	49	Final report of tests of concrete containing portland blast-furnace slag cement, by William E. Grieb and George Werner.....	183
Automatic time recorder for dual-drum paver operation....	51	No. 10, October 1961:
No. 3, August 1960:		A new base for the highway construction bid price index compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads, by Edwin L. Stern.....	195
Driver tension responses generated on urban streets, by Richard M. Michaels.....	53	Dynamic weighing of vehicles, by John A. Dearing.....	200
Traffic operations as related to highway illumination and delineation, by Asriel Taragin and Burton M. Rudy.....	59	Concrete containing fly ash as a replacement for portland blast-furnace slag cement, by William E. Grieb and Donald O. Woolf.....	205
Digital recording for highway research, by Richard C. Hopkins.....	67	No. 11, December 1961:
No. 4, October 1960:		Changes in asphalt viscosities during thin-film oven and microfilm durability tests, by Woodrow J. Halstead and Joseph A. Zenewitz.....	211
Properties of highway asphalts—Part II, Various penetration grades, by J. York Welborn, Woodrow J. Halstead, and J. Gaylord Boone.....	73	Life-saving benefits of the Interstate System, by Charles W. Prisk.....	219
Trans-Hudson River vehicular origin and destination survey, by Warren Lovejoy.....	86	A laboratory-field study of hot asphaltic concrete wearing course mixtures, by Joseph F. Goode and Elliott P. Owings (See errata in No. 12, p. 242).....	221
No. 5, December 1960:		No. 12, February 1962:
Characteristics of travel to a regional shopping center, by Jacob Silver and Walter G. Hansen.....	101	The effect of speed change information on spacing between vehicles, by Richard M. Michaels and David Solomon....	229
The effects of enforcement on traffic behavior, by Richard M. Michaels.....	109	A supplementary study of concrete produced by 34-E dual-drum pavers, by Donald O. Woolf and Henry W. Schneider.....	236
Appraisal of O-D survey sample size, by Arthur B. Sossiau and Glenn E. Brokke.....	114	Absolute viscosity as a specification control for bituminous binders, by J. York Welborn and Woodrow J. Halstead..	243
A traffic analyzer: its development and application, by Asriel Taragin and Richard C. Hopkins.....	120	Comparison of Zeitfuchs cross-arm and Saybolt furol viscometers for measuring viscosity of cutback asphalt, by Edward R. Oglio, Joseph A. Zenewitz, and Woodrow J. Halstead.....	248
No. 6, February 1961:
A symposium on water-reducing retarders for concrete.....	125
Water-reducing retarders for concrete—Chemical and spectral analyses, by Woodrow J. Halstead and Bernard Chaiken.....	126
Water-reducing retarders for concrete—Physical tests, by William E. Grieb, George Werner, and Donald O. Woolf.....	136
